"Self Evident Truths" Need Revival Of Old Time Fourth Of July Oratory

One thing this nation needs is a revival of the old time Fourth of July orator, who waved the flag and expounded on the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights and the great individual freedoms that we Americans enjoy "from the rock bound coast of Maine to the sunny shores of California."

Today we smile at the old-fashioned orator and his hour-and-a-half talk that highlighted the biggest community celebration of the year on the Fourth of July — today very few communities even take time to observe the Fourth, other than to close the stores so that everyone can git goin' someplace for the holiday.

But with all kinds of "new" ideas being kicked around these days, we could stand a shot or two of the Fourth of July oratory that prevailed in the "old days", for we are prone to forget about the dream of the centuries that have become the accepted rights of man in our system of American government.

We can't match the orator of the past, but we can submit the material that he used as his subject. We herewith do just that with the hope that you will read on — slowly and thoughtfully, comparing, as you read, the meaning of great thoughts to our application of those thoughts today.

From the first paragraph of the Declaration of Independence:

"We hold these truths to be self evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

And then from the Bill of Rights:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

"... The right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed ... The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no warrant shall be issued but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized."

"No person shall be held to answer for a capital or other infamous crime unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury ... nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation."

"In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury ... (he shall have the right) to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense."

$ 205 WAITING FOR SILVER BONUS SHOPPER

PORTERVILLE, July 4 — Silver Bonus pot next Tuesday — $205!

Some lucky shopper in a Porterville Silver Bonus store next Tuesday may win $205, the amount that is riding in the weekly Silver Bonus contest that is sponsored by 18 Porterville business firms.

(For listing and special advertising, see the Silver Bonus pages in this issue of The Farm Tribune.)

All you do is sign up for the contest at a Silver Bonus store; (if you have already signed up you're in — you just enter once) make a purchase in a Silver Bonus store next Tuesday, then if your name comes up, and you can produce a sales slip from a Silver Bonus store dated Tuesday, you get $205.

(If your sales slip is for less than $5.00, you get half the silver bonus.)

Winner last Tuesday was C. O. Gaston, 812 Page street, Porterville, however, Mr. Gaston was not in town on Tuesday, so he received $5.00 but missed on the Silver Bonus.

So, $205 is riding as the Silver Bonus.

PEARSON PUMP BUYS COOKE WATER SYSTEMS

POPLAR, July 4 — Pearson Pump company, Porterville, has purchased the Cooke Water Systems in Poplar, with the new owner taking over officially on Monday.

Dudley Pearson states that improvements in the system are in the planning stage now, for future community developments.

RALPH WORRELL, of Visalia, who has resigned from the Agricultural Extension service to open an Agricultural Consultant and Farm Property Management service. Worrell has been with the Extension service in Tulare county for 19 years, serving as director of extension for a period of five years. With the cooperation of county livestock men he pioneered the county range improvement program, setting up procedures that have been utilized in other counties throughout California.

Worrell Sets Up New Agriculture County Service

VISALIA, July 4 — A new Agricultural consultant and Farm Property Management service has been established in Tulare county by Ralph Worrell, former director of the University of California Extension service in the county.

The service covers consultation on farm production problems and the management of farms operated by absentee owners, or by "businessmen farmers", who have interests other than agriculture.

Worrell attended the agricultural college at Davis for five years; he went with the U.S. de-

LIVESTOCK RECEIPTS AT HIGH LEVEL

SACRAMENTO, July 4 — Aggregate cash receipts from farm marketing of livestock and poultry, and their related products in California during 1956, totaled $986 million, four per cent above 1955 and the highest figure on record since 1952, according to a summary by the California Crop and Livestock Reporting service.

Substantial increases in farm income compared to a year earlier were recorded for cattle, calves, milk, cream and turkeys, while lesser increases were shown for sheep, lambs, honey and bees wax.

Lower prices for chickens and eggs resulted in lower cash receipts to state producers, even though total production was higher than in the previous year. Cash income from sale of hogs and wool

Electronic Rain Gauges In Mountains

PORTERVILLE, July 4 — Modern approach to the keeping of weather records in the high Sierra country is seen in the placing of electronic rain gauges at five locations in the mountains.

The gauges will be placed near Kernville, on the south, to the South American lake area on the north. The equipment is being installed by the Philco company for the U.S. army engineers.

Contract to pack the equipment to the mountain locations has been awarded to Clark Wicks, whose pack station is located at Shake camp.

Eighteen head of pack stock will be required to carry the material that is needed for each rain measurement station. Installation work will be done during the summer.

County Budget Over $20 Million

VISALIA, July 4 — Tulare county supervisors this week adopted a record budget of $20,629,000 for the 1957-58 year — about three million dollars above last year.

Nearly half the budget — $9,216,147 — goes to the welfare department. It is said that this unbelievable figure results from state legislation that makes necessary the addition of 16 persons to the department and increases necessary expenditures.

The county must provide $1,306,475 toward the welfare budget, an increase of $176,976 from the county compared to last year.

SUNLIGHT BAKERY PERSONNEL OBSERVE TWENTY-FOURTH ANNIVERSARY; CITY BUDGET IS TOPIC ALONG THE AVENUE

PORTERVILLE, July 4 — Twenty-fourth anniversary of a major Porterville business firm — Sunlight Bakery — was observed by bakery personnel and their families at Bartlett park last night; special honors went to Paige Cheadle and Walter Roberts when Owner Jerry Hildebrand presented them with Hamilton watches in recognition of 20 years of service with the Sunlight organization.

More than 300 people attended; barbecued chicken and beef were menu features.

Sunlight, the bakers of Miss Sunbeam bread, now has two bakeries — Porterville and Bakersfield; 90 employees and 30 bread routes. Payroll is $10,000 per week. Four employees and one route marked the beginning of the firm when Hildebrand and Gene Bluekle, the latter now retired from the firm, moved to Porterville from Hanford back in the 30s.

Elsewhere along the avenue, city councilmen have adopted a 1957-58 budget of $390,609.74, something more than $9,000 below last year's budget. (However, the city spent a little over a million dollars during the past fiscal year.) If estimated income to the city, now being figured, turns out as expected, it is likely that city tax rate will be the same as last year, $1.30.

Five percent pay increases were granted to department heads and a number of other city employees, but not all employees. (As a result there is a little less than good feeling in some quarters.)

Reappointments include: Everett Howell to the planning commission; Paul Robinson to the golf committee; V. Reed Welles and Clayton Canfield to the library board and John Daybell to the park commission.

In the field of sports: Sid Hall

"Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted."

Those are some of the privileges of individuals that are written into our system of law — a system that holds the individual as being of supreme importance; a system that holds that government must be "of the people, by the people, and for the people."

Now, you write your own Fourth of July speech — then deliver it to your kids. A little old-fashioned, patriotic oratory is what a lot of us need these days.

Hospital Summer Program Discussed At Council Meeting

PORTERVILLE, July 4 — Summer recreation program at the Porterville State hospital was outlined by Bob Slover, coordinator of volunteer services, at a meeting of the Council of Hospital Volunteers held recently.

Picnics, swimming, movies, folk dancing, various types of games, music, singing, field trips, drama, arts and crafts and library are included in the program.

Mrs. Ruth Vincent told of need at the hospital for strollers and baby buggies; Mrs. Frank Hallford offered the use of her home pool for a swimming party; Mrs. Marucs Jones provided refreshments for the meeting.

The Mt. Whitney hatchery recently supplied 103,000 Rainbow trout for stocking in the Territory of Hawaii.

COMMODITY BOARDS STAGE BARBECUE DINNER

PORTERVILLE, July 4 — Tulare county's Cerebral Palsy Building fund is several hundred dollars nearer its goal as a result of a special Turkey Barbecue held last Thursday evening at Porterville's Municipal Airport under the auspices of the 20 Ands Club of Porterville.

Some 250 persons attended the benefit dinner from which the proceeds are going to the County Chapter of Cerebral Palsy, which at present is attempting to raise approximately $50,000 to construct a new wing at the Conyer school in Visalia, Tulare county's official rehabilitation center.

Mayor Lester J. Hamilton of Porterville praised the local women's organization for having adopted the Cerebral Palsy program as their community project for the year — as well as for their past efforts in helping county charities.

Joining with the girls to help promote the affair were representatives of the California Turkey Advisory board, the California Wine Advisory board, and the 7-up bottling company. The three groups, under the supervision of Gene Beales, "Sparky" Arnold, Clarence Orender and Walter Rickborn furnished and prepared gratis the evening meal and refreshments.

Vocalists, Georgia Riggins of Springville, and Vince Pasion of Porterville, provided musical numbers, accompanied by John Brimhall. Bill Ross and Mike Morales of Buck Shaffer's Studio band were on hand to help with the evening entertainment. Miss Judy Henslee of Porterville entertained with dance specialties.

The 20 Ands committee in charge of arrangements were: co-chairmen, Verna Mae Crabtree and Shirley Bastian, Ina Smith, Mary French, Vivian Lutey, Martha Coghlan, Ruth Hughes, Joan Hughes and Molly Della. Assisting the committee were Bob Crabtree, Harlan Hughes and Delmar Wall.

CIVIL DEFENSE PLANS STUDIED

VISALIA, July 4 — County director of civil defense and civil defense directors from the various cities of the county, met yesterday to study plans for participation in a state-wide civil defense alert scheduled for July 12.

OUR TOWN

By Gardner (Bud) Wheeler

ONCE UPON A TIME, the Fourth of July was the occasion for mad oratory, barbecue, and flag waving. Times changed, and when we were much younger than we are today, it was the occasion for cannonading with fire crackers of every description from "lady fingers" to "Giants" with a capital G. Every red-blooded American boy spent days before the holiday accumulating an arsenal of noise makers and by sun-up on the Fourth, the neighborhood sounded like a full scale assault was in progress. We showed a remarkable indifference for life, limb and occasional fire.

TIME MARCHES ON, and we no longer enjoy the waves of patriotic oratory or the window-shattering crashes of giant crackers blasting 'round about. This presumably is progress and we are all "safe and sane", and possibly a bit indifferent as to what the Fourth is all about. We would like to quote a few lines that we feel are worthwhile for the occasion:

"WE HOLD THESE TRUTHS to be self-evident; that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed —"

That is from the Declaration of Independence, and really, tells what the Fourth of July is all about. It is the very essence of Americanism; the securing the rights of every individual and the tacit acknowledgement that the individual is the most important factor in our country; not the masses, not the classes, but each and every person. This import-

Blackeye Beans Need Frequent, Shallow Irrigation

By William R. Sallee
Farm Advisor

VISALIA, July 14 — Blackeyes should not be allowed to suffer from lack of moisture before an irrigation is applied; on the other hand, too much water can cause excess vine growth and may reduce yields.

Blackeyes that are irrigated when the plants show the first signs of moisture stress will usually produce the best yields. This early stress is noted as a color change — the immature leaves at the top of the plants turn dark.

Although there appears to be available moisture in the root zone when signs of stress appears, the bean plants may not be able to take up enough moisture for proper growth because of their inefficient root system.

ance of the individual is what makes America great, and with all the critical "isms" floating around for the taking, it is refreshing to think over this fundamental precept.

DOYLE COLONY

By George A. Heintz

Fourth of July at home: The empty flag poles — a few cars getting nowhere in their search for somebody going somewhere — cap pistols exploding here and there in feeble defiance of an ordinance that robs the kids of innocent firecracker tossing and the thrill of setting off a skyrocket — no more burnt fingers — but the maimed bodies of humans dragged from things that were once called automobiles on "suicide drive" highway 99.

Don't be surprised: If the Mayor names a co-ordinator for City-County planning from The Colony — if a certain nite spot in the area stays closed "for good" — if Everett Vaughn runs for sheriff next year — if your next tax statement makes your eyes bulge.

I didn't know till: Sherry the jeweler told me the first watch that used a key to wind it, called a Nuremburg egg watch, was made over five centuries ago; the latest in watches is the Hamilton electric, cost about 80 bucks.

Whitney — kids from Doyle school riding "Jennies" down Clatte Drive and making dainty hoof imprints in the hot tar.

Neighbors are important: Housewives silently going from house to house collecting food stuff and clothing for a family not able to "cut the mustard" at the moment — a widow's mite in a Colony with a so-o-o big heart — Ira Marks soundly cussin' out a "morning afterer" for asking for credit, and then quietly going out the door and slipping him a buck to buy groceries with across the

STATE HOSPITAL REACHES PATIENT CAPACITY LEVEL

PORTERVILLE, July 4 — Porterville State hospital has reached its full patient capacity of 2,458, however, it is expected that "overcrowding" will bring the number of patients to more than 2,500 in the near future.

Legislative appropriation for operation of the hospital during the fiscal year is more than $5,000,000. Estimated expenditure is $5.48 per day per patient; provision is made for 1,025 employees, however, all positions are not filled.

Construction plans for the next year call for two duplex residences for physicians and six two-room apartments for nurses and allied personnel; additional shop buildings; a patients' baseball and recreational area; yard shelters for ward courts, and additional parking facilities.

Overall summer pasture and range conditions in California are the best since 1952, according to the California Crop and Livestock Reporting service.

In order to give your husband a vacation, we close on Sundays during July and August. Some husbands would appreciate it even more if we would close the other six days too. However, there is a limit to how far we'll go to please a customer — especially male customers.

Being closed Sundays, the Fourth of July, and Labor Day means we have to sell faster on the days we have left. For this reason we have cleaned up, shined up, and otherwise improved the stuff we have to offer.

Amongst other things we have a new sprinkler — not really new but improved and guaranteed. Called the "swing-in" spray" it waters just like rain only more reliable. It's sort of a lazy looking thing that doesn't knock itself out swingin' and spraying, but does it sorta slow and easy. It says it's the sprinkler your lawn may be dieing to have and we're dieing to sell you one, so come on in and have a look.

If something besides your husband needs to be potted we have clay and glazed pots from a few cents up to ones you can't afford. There are some new speckled ones that will knock your eyes out and if they don't the price will. We're on "E" Street north of Olive except Sundays.

THE OLD DAYS

JANUARY, 1900

TULARE — At an adjourned meeting of the board of directors of the twenty-fourth agricultural district, voting was in favor of Tulare as the place of holding the fair in 1900. V. D. Knupp of Porterville voted in favor of Tulare. It is quite likely that Kings county will carry out the threat made in the Hanford Sentinel of yesterday and have a fair of its own.

FARMERSVILLE — Two young men of this town while out riding with their "best girls" Saturday evening met with quite a mishap. They were in a surrey and the driver was so absorbed in conversation with his young lady companion that he did not give proper attention to his team when approaching Cameron creek levee; the horses missed the culvert and the surrey overturned. The driver jumped and saved himself; his lady companion fainted; the other couple was left beneath the overturned surrey until it could be righted. No damage and no names.

PORTERVILLE — The Chrisman ranch of Rockyford has changed hands and is now owned by J. Braley, president of the Bank of Southern California. T. P. Elam, formerly manager of the place, has been re-engaged by Mr. Braley.

Prof. J. L. Dinwiddie represented Porterville at a meeting of the Tulare County High School association held in Visalia. There are 13 high school teachers in Tulare county now.

WOODVILLE — The Woodville creamery has not been a success and will be moved further up the river where more milk can be had. New location is near the Burton school house, three miles west of Porterville.

FISHIN'

By Slim Washburn

Fishing is very good on all forks of the Tule river. Weekly plantings of eight to nine inch catchables, and light fishing pressure this season has kept the streams well filled with fish.

Planted fish hit salmon eggs and cheese baits, and small spinners best; the native fish have been hitting dry flies very well the last two weeks — also good on nymphs, hoppers and worms.

Water has dropped rapidly and is getting very warm down stream from the P. G. and E. powerhouse.

Back country fishing is improving. Little Kern and its tributaries are good. Big Kern still very high and fishing is spotty. High lake country and small meadow streams good. Summit, Hidden and Coyote lakes good. Blossom only fair. (I fished it last Tuesday.)

High Production From Borror Cow

SPRINGVILLE, June 4 — Sequoia Vel Fobes, registered Holstein on the Mark L. and Bruce W. Borror ranch at Springville, produced 16,008 pounds of milk and 665 pounds of butterfat as a three-year-old, milked twice daily for 365 days.

MARVIN HUGHES IS DELEGATE TO CONVENTION

By Marvin Awbrey

PRAIRIE CENTER, July 4 — The final business meeting of the year for the Prairie Center 4-H club was held recently at the Brethren Church with a highlight of the meeting being the selection of Marvin Hughes as the delegate to represent Prairie Center club at the Davis convention later this summer. Hughes has been quite active in the club, and has served as secretary for the past year.

Reynetta Glover gave a report on her very enjoyable week at 4-H Camp at Whitaker forest. She stated that nine members attended, with the club paying two dollars on each member's camp fee.

A brief but interesting talk was given by Ernest Rice, of Maryland, who is working through the Church of the Brethren to improve facilities of various natures in local communities. He is to remain here in California for two years.

Project reports were given by: Faye Fairley, Joy Morrison, sewing; Bill Collins, horse and beef; Hazel Noel, sewing and junior leader; and Jane Upton, sewing, cooking and horse.

Plans were made for the annual summer swimming party to which all parents, members, and friends who are interested in 4-H work are invited. The party will be held August 8 at the Lindsay park, with potluck dinner being served at 7:30 p.m.

Proper Timing Of Alfalfa Cutting Lowers Aphid Damage

By William R. Sallee
Farm Advisor

VISALIA, July 4 — Spotted Alfalfa Aphid damage can be reduced in fields by cutting the hay at the one-tenth bloom stage, Agronomist Luther G. Jones told growers at the recent Spring Agronomy Field day at the University of California, Davis.

This cutting stage also produces the highest yields of digestible protein and total digestible nutrients, he said.

Damage caused by the aphid was more severe in the pre-bud and full-bud cutting intervals than in the one-tenth bloom stage, said the Davis agronomist. In the stands cut at short intervals, the aphids continue to build up on the residue of green leaves and stubble. However, in the one-tenth bloom stage of cutting, there is little green leaf residue left, and the aphids die from starvation or exposure to the hot sun.

In stands cut at one-half bloom or older, recurrent growth from the alfalfa crowns, one to four inches high, provides food and protection for the aphids to build up to damaging population.

Cutting at the one-tenth bloom stage also benefits the root and crown growth of the plants and reduces weeds in alfalfa fields, lowing a song fest, to the members, parents, and leaders present. Members handed in their completed project books for the year, which will be corrected and considered for awards.

said Jones.

More frequently — cut stands have smaller roots, recover more slowly, and produce fewer culms per crown and total dry matter yield.

Watergrass is kept to its lowest level in fields cut at the recommended time. In fields cut more frequently, Jones found heavy infestations of this weedy grass.

A total of 3,200 acres in California has been planted to cucumbers for pickles.

The higher the rate of turnover, the lower the cost of food stored in freezers.

Natural Control Of Spotted Aphid Looks Promising, But Alfalfa Growers Should Check Fields For Build Up

By William R. Sallee
Farm Advisor

VISALIA, July 4 — Moderate severe populations of the Spotted Alfalfa aphid were found in alfalfa fields throughout the county in May. Due to favorable weather conditions, fungus disease and lady bird beetles built up rapidly in the fields and reduced the aphid population to low numbers by the first of June. In general, these natural controls kept the aphid under control throughout the month of June. However, at the present time the Spotted Alfalfa aphid population seems to be building up again, primarily due to low humidity and the lack of morning dew. Also, the lady bird beetle population appears to be less than it was two weeks ago. Since the fungus is well established in the alfalfa fields and the predator populations (lady bird beetles, lace wings and Erigone spiders) remain at a relatively high level, control by these natural factors still looks promising. Alfalfa fields should be watched carefully and frequent checks should be made since climatic conditions could change very rapidly and the Spotted Alfalfa aphid populations could therefore increase very rapidly.

An irrigation practice that keeps the hay in a lush growing condition is the most important cultural practice in obtaining the most control from the fungus.

A high moisture level in the field, as a result of light frequent irrigation, provides the best conditions for the fungus. Hay allowed to stress from lack of moisture can result in a rapid build up of the aphid. A new publication available at the Farm Advisors office in Visalia, gives current information on the control of this serious alfalfa pest.

FINS FOR FEATHERS

By PHIL the FORESTER

Region IV of the fish and game department which is composed of the San Joaquin Valley has had more than its share of regional fish and game managers, Lawrence H. Cloyd, Sacramento, to take office in Fresno on August 1, being the fourth since the department was reorganized by the 1950 legislature.

The first five regional managers for the new five regional offices were appointed in November, 1952, and all other regions still have their original boss. Fresno however went from Bill Morse, to Walt Shannon, to Phil Roedel and now to Larry Cloyd. Roedel will assume a new position with the marine fisheries for the fish and game department; this being his original training. Sportsmen of the San Joaquin valley will be sorry to lose Roedel but will be well pleased with Larry Cloyd whose primary training has been with game birds and animals. He has been in charge of game for Region II, Sacramento, and prior to the reorganization had charge of game as far south as Merced county.

Millerton lake has been providing some very good black bass and crappie fishing at the upper end. Quite a number of frogs also being taken from the lake.

Kern county reports heavy fishing pressure on the smaller streams of the western Greenhorn because of the roily water in the Kern river.

Catfishing has improved materially along the San Joaquin river and sloughs of Stanislaus county.

Fresno county west side warm water fishing dropped off and only a few catfish are now being taken.

Granite Creek area of Madera county is now open and Cora lake has been producing some beautiful 14 inch eastern brook trout. Granite creek and the Northfork of the San Joaquin river at Sheep Crossing are still too high for good fishing. Bass and trout are being taken from Bass lake.

Electric cooking keeps more juice in roast chicken — because it's flameless!

When you cook electrically there's no draft of constantly changing air because there's no flame. (Flame, you see, needs air to breathe. So a flame-heated oven constantly inhales dry air, exhales moist air—literally cooks meat in a hot draft that evaporates good juices.) In an electric oven there's no draft of dry air. You cook with moist heat. As a result, more juice stays in the meat...and the meat tastes better.

Electric cooking is far cooler, too. As much as 16° cooler. The reason is obvious: electric cooking puts the heat directly into the food, not into the room. Electric cooking is cleaner, too, because it's flameless. There are no by-products of combustion to dirty walls and darken your bright pans. Truly, it's the only modern way to cook. Why not see your appliance dealer for a demonstration of the new electric ranges?

We Only Heard

By BILL RODGERS

C. R. WILLIAMS, former Porterville resident who, three years ago went to Yorkville, Illinois, as superintendent of schools there, writes that he has completed his work and will be leaving soon. Right now he is not sure where he will "settle to earth again", but our guess is he'll be back in Porterville one of these days. Incidentally, the school board at Yorkville, "as an expression of appreciation for service rendered to the school and community", voted C. R. and extra month's salary . . . Which is the kind of appreciation that can be appreciated.

McCLELLAN COMMITTEE has received some 50,000 letters charging misdeeds of labor union officials; even discounting the spite letters and local beefs, this is more than considerable communications.

SPEAKING OF the Barn theater, and someone was speaking about it in an anonymous letter that we received the other day, the idea is suggested that the Barn do a super colossal production starring those illustrious Barn alumni, Ann B. Davis, Pete Tewksbury and Richard Deacon, charge a couple of bucks admission, and get the Barn out of the red. Then the anonymous letter adds, "I am not in favor of pressuring the city for help as this is not a city project, so why should the city taxpayers be burdened with the expense of paying for pleasures that someone else is enjoying?" . . . To which we reply, good ideas, both of them. But regarding the first, who is going to "bell the cat", that is who is going to convince the above mentioned people to come to Porterville for the gratis performances? . . . Of course, it is just possible that for the sake of old times, they might do it. Yes sir, they just might if someone asked them . . . But why the anonymous letter? . . . Of course we must admit it is rather nice to receive such a letter that isn't blasting us about something we did, or did not do.

NEW IDEA in promotion of agricultural commodities was seen in Porterville last week when the California Turkey Advisory board and the California Wine Advisory board put on a fine barbecue dinner, in cooperation with 20 Ands, for benefit of the Cerebral Palsy fund. As far as we know, this type of promotion is a new, experimental approach to advertising and to increasing consumption of farm products. And from where we sit, it looks like a good idea.

ELK HUNT IS CANCELLED

SACRAMENTO, July 4 — Special elk hunt, slated for mid-July, in Colusa, Lake and Yolo counties has been cancelled because 90 per cent of landowners on the elk range have not agreed to open their land to hunters.

AGRICULTURAL EMPLOYMENT HIGH

FRESNO, July 4 — Agricultural employment in the six San Joaquin valley counties has run 116,000 persons for the past two weeks, about 6,000 more than during the same period last year.

"Ounce Of Prevention" Rule Advised In Checking Olive Verticillium Wilt

By Karl W. Opitz
Farm Advisor

VISALIA, July 4 — "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" still goes as a good rule in avoiding verticillium wilt in olive groves. As yet, there is no commercially available treatment that will destroy the verticillium fungus without killing olive trees affected with the disease.

The best insurance that olive trees will not contract this disease is to be certain that no verticillium susceptible crops such as cotton and tomatoes, are grown on land that is planted or will be planted to olives. Debris from plants that have been infected with verticillium may contain large quantities of sclerotia (small bits of dormant fungus) which are likely to cause branch wilt of olive trees.

Olive verticilliosis is usually characterized by a sudden wilting of a large branch — or even the entire top of the tree. This most frequently occurs when the tree is in bloom or with small fruit. Wilted branches occasionally recover, making it inadvisable to remove the affected branches, until the extent of the dead area can be definitely determined. Usually by late summer the dead limbs or twigs can be cut away and burned.

Unfortunately this treatment does not get at the source of the trouble which is the fungus existing in the soil. When conditions for growth of the fungus again becomes favorable other branches may wilt and die. Until some means of successfully treating affected trees is found, preventing re-contamination by infective agents is the best insurance against trouble with this fungus.

Non-tillage or clean culture will help to prevent a build up of the organism in old groves.

Although Verticillium alboatrum affects over 200 kinds of plants, it is not generally serious in an area until a susceptible crop is grown. This causes an increase of the infective material to the point where damage to succeeding crops of susceptible plants is much more certain when conditions become favorable to growth of the fungus. Olive growers planning to use old cotton, vegetable, or melon land for new planting, should grow non-susceptible crops such as, corn, milo, wheat or barley, for several years prior to planting new orchards.

California Pig Crop Down

SACRAMENTO, July 4 — California spring pig crop is estimated at 282,000 head, just 1,000 more than a year ago, but 14 per cent less than in 1955 and 26 per cent less than the 10-year average. United States pig crop is estimated as practically the same as last year.

Is It Wise To Choose A Funeral Director In Advance?

Many men of affairs think so. They are community leaders to whom planning for every contingency is a natural part of living. They realize it is wise, considerate and economical to spare their families the task of choosing a funeral director under the stress of shock and grief. In coming to us they do so because of our readiness to accept every responsibility and detail which would otherwise burden their loved ones.

Edison Bringing Natural Gas From Valley To Southland

LOS ANGELES, July 4—Southern California Edison company has announced that its subsidiary, Edison Securities company, is ready to begin construction of a 130-mile natural gas pipeline from the San Joaquin valley to the Los Angeles harbor area — a $24,000,000 dual purpose project aimed at reducing smog and providing vitally needed fuel for expanded electric power facilities.

Franchise proceedings are under way in cities along the projected route of the pipeline, and sections of the pipe already have begun to arrive, according to James F. Davenport, executive vice president of the Edison Company.

Construction will begin, as soon as the necessary franchises are granted, Davenport said. The pipeline is expected to be completed early in 1958.

EXCHANGE SPEAKS AT COUNCIL MEETING

VISALIA, July 4—Mauro Chibrando, International Farm Youth exchangee from Italy, spoke Tuesday evening in Visalia at a meeting of the Tulare County 4-H council.

Before he bought a McCulloch, George worked in a meat market

You can do more than fell and buck trees with a McCulloch chain saw. You can limb, slab, cut cordwood and posts. But here's one of the most important things you can do—you can pick up your McCulloch in one hand, and carry it easily to the next cut. Try that with any other big-timber saw.

Visiting Hours

Within the next few days, stop by our store for a real demonstration of wood cutting. Or give us a call and we'll try to arrange a show for you at your place. There's no obligation. We want you to see what a McCulloch can do.

Livestock

There was little change in the overall level of cattle and calves on farms during the past year. The January 1, 1957 estimate of 3,870,000 head was only 7,000 head above a year earlier. Milk cow population was maintained at 927,000 head—unchanged from the record high of 1956.

Beef cow numbers at 873,000 head set a new record and continued an expansion which began about 10 years ago. Although there were more cows and heifers two years old and older on farms at the beginning of the year, a lower calf crop percentage gave the state a slightly lower calf crop in 1956. A total of 1,291,000 cattle and calves were marketed from California feedlots during the year—4 percent fewer than a year earlier.

Milk production in 1956 at 7,310 million pounds surpassed the previous record in 1955 by 1 percent. This was accomplished by the same number of cows as were on hand a year earlier as production per cow reached a record level of 8,600 pounds.

Stock sheep numbers during the year dropped off 4 percent from the level that had been maintained during the past several years. Breeding ewes were down 6 percent while ewe lambs were up 6 percent or 12,000 head. Winter feeding of sheep and lambs in California continued to expand with 352,000 head on feed January 1, 1957.

Hog production in California has been on a general decline since the end of World War II. The January 1, 1957 hog population of 438,000 head was 3 percent less than a year earlier. About three out of every four hogs slaughtered in California during 1956 were shipped in from other states.

The production of eggs, turkeys and commercial broilers during the year was larger than in 1955. All of these products brought lower average prices than a year earlier. There were 867,000 fewer farm chickens raised than a year earlier.

Livestock slaughter plants in California during 1956 slaughtered 6 percent more cattle than a year earlier, 4 percent more calves 6 percent more hogs but 1 percent fewer sheep and lambs. This resulted in the production of 7 percent more beef than in 1955, 5 percent more veal, 4 percent more pork, but 2 percent less mutton and lamb. The combined total meat production of 1,992,000,000 pounds in 1956 was 6 percent more than in 1955.
